Fred Stratford, Group CEO, Reed & Mackay said, “We’re thrilled to provide the Reed & Mackay service in India. The market is of strategic importance to many of our clients and we’re very proud of the team and the technology that we have in place.”

Abhijit Sinha, MD India, Reed & Mackay said, “We’ve had teams on the ground for some months now refining a service that meets the local needs of travellers and the businesses that they work for. We’ve worked hard to design solutions for local market challenges, such as automated workflow to reclaim Goods and Services Tax, which is delivering huge time savings for our clients”.

Stratford continued, “We do global differently at Reed & Mackay. We’re not trying to be the biggest. Our focus is on delivering an exceptional level of service to every traveller, every business, in markets which are key to delivering client success. We’re delighted to be providing the Reed & Mackay service in India, further complementing our robust and agile global solutions.”

In addition to having ownership of 15 offices across the globe, Reed & Mackay also has an International Partnership of market leading TMCs in 48 locations.
